Some additional information about our facility

· Our funeral home has overflow space that has been equipped with closed circuit TV in case you have a larger crowd than expected. This way, those not seated in the main chapel may still see and hear everything that is taking place with the service. We can accommodate seating for approximately 300. (200 main chapel; 100 overflow) This overflow space can also be very useful as a place where parents with small children can retreat to care for their young ones without missing any of the service.

· We also offer Webcasting (Live Internet Video Streaming) of services held in our main chapel. This allows family and friends from all over the world to attend the service virtually, and they won't miss one moment of the service just because they couldn't physically be here. This service also provides an online recording that will be available on our website for up to 90 days allowing on-demand viewing by family and friends who may have missed the live broadcast.

· All of the families we serve are given a free "Book Of Memories" memorial web page . This is an online page dedicated to the memory of your loved one where people can see all service details, read the obituary, post condolences, light memorial candles, share stories and photos, and much more.

· For those families choosing cremation, you should know that we own and operate our own crematory . This ensures that we never transfer your loved one into the care of an outside company, all while allowing greater flexibility in scheduling services, and to more quickly schedule the cremation of your loved one.
